

A Message From Our CEO, Buddy Doyle

On March 12th, Oyster requested that our employees work remotely to reduce the threat of the COVID-19 outbreak from impacting our service to our clients. We also prohibited our employees from discretionary travel.

We are fortunate as a consulting and software company to have the systems, procedures, and controls to make this transition smooth and secure. It is a normal practice for our employees to be traveling, and remote work is the primary method for more than half of our company. At this time, we do not believe that our clients will experience any disruption or delay in service as a result of our decision to protect our employees and clients from the risks associated with a pandemic outbreak.

If you have any questions about Oyster's services or would like to discuss how to keep your firm safely operating during this time, please do not hesitate to contact us. Thank you for placing your trust in us.
